

WordPress Training Testimonials

“Rachel was amazing! She has a deep level of knowledge about WordPress and her patience and skill made me far more confident in managing my own website. She was a pleasure to work with, and the remote sessions worked perfectly – it was as if she was sitting next to me throughout. Definitely worthwhile for beginning and intermediate users of WordPress!”

Ed Budge, Budge & Heipt, PLLC

“The virtual training was exactly what I needed to get up to speed on handling our website. The bonus was that we addressed all of my current updates during the sessions, and I have a list of ongoing improvements that I know exactly how to handle. Having the training sessions broken into 2 four-hour sessions allowed me to get started – and then try things by myself with another chance to clear up anything I didn’t quite get. Thanks!”

Mary Buchanan, Director of Marketing, Symbient Product Development

“Rachel was able to take me from someone who knew very little about WordPress to someone who now is very confident in making changes to our company website. She even increased my knowledge on SEO and taught me ways to further benefit our company in the future.”

Hannah Ballard, Cornett Roofing Systems

“After training with Mark at EJ&A, I feel very competent to get under the hood of our WordPress based site and make changes, add images, and even create new pages. The class was time and money well spent.”

Alex Ball, All Craft Exteriors

“Thank you so much for helping set up my website and showing me how to use WordPress. Your training turned the intimidating task of website development into something that was well started by the end of the session. After the training, I was able to add content to the site without problems using the techniques you showed me.”

Walt Neubauer, Senior Oracle DBA

“I did the training virtually from Denver and had an extremely positive experience. I learned all the little details I was missing in order to connect the website development dots. The training was invaluable because it empowered me to rely on myself to achieve our organizational website goals as opposed to depending on our developer.”

Rebecca Patterson, Development Consultant

“Having someone like Rachel work with you when you need help is a great way to learn. So now, I can change the website myself, update at will, and insure the commerce side of my website is working properly. Since taking Rachel’s class, I have updated 4 sites, which allows me to pursue my businesses without any website delays.”

Fred Verd, Verd Guitars

“The knowledge that I’ve acquired from working with Emily has paid for itself many times over. Emily is a fantastic teacher and has given me the confidence and tools to build and manage my site. This has saved me an enormous amount of time and money while also giving me the freedom to take my ideas and bring them to life on my site the right way. I recommend anyone looking to learn the how, what, and why’s of WordPress to hire Emily.”

John Brooks, MS, CISSN, Nutrition361.com

“Emily, I wanted to let you know that I just booked my first seminar using the SEO technique that you shared with me during our time together. Thank you so much for that wonderful tip”

Michelle Joyce, Michelle Joyce Speakers

“We connected and within a week we had a 2 hour virtual consultation scheduled. We implemented her training on our site and within 2 days of posting our SEO strategy pages, there we were, on page 1 of Google in #1 position. Thanks Emily!”

Jeremy Cyrier, Mansard Commercial Real Estate

“After some research and reviewing references, we chose Emily Journey and Associates to provide WordPress training for our team. Emily was personable, effective and thorough in her approach to instruction. She was able to accommodate the diversity of skill levels and knowledge among our students and keep the classes moving. Since the class we have all been able to function successfully in the WordPress environment – and it’s great to know that follow up assistance was included in our instructional package. Emily will impress and then empower. She is a true professional and knows how to create a great learning moment.”

Scott Forrest, Senior Vice President, Equity, Inc.

“I needed to learn WordPress in a very short timeframe because I was taking over the job of webmaster on a web site that had been maintained by a private vendor. I found Emily Journey and Associates after looking at several other sites to see how they might fill my need for non-generic training. Not only were the other companies terribly priced; but they seemed to only offer a “one size fits all” course. Emily was willing to work with me and hone in on what I will be required to maintain and create on the web site I inherited. She is an excellent trainer and easy to work with (I think we developed a very good rapport right off the bat). I believe I was taught everything I’ll need to know and the fact that she offers her time after the training for personal support was another plus.”

Lynne Parrish, Arizona Department of Economic Security

“We had a great experience with Rachel! We started looking to upgrade our website and needed some help with design, and Rachel went beyond the call. She was very professional and knew exactly what was needed to be done to get our new site up and running. I would highly recommend her to anyone who wants to learn more about WordPress!”

Michael Pucciarello, Lead Technician, Link Your House

“The web class Emily Journey held with me was fantastic. She quickly took me from nothing to setting up the hosting, installing WordPress, picking a theme and doing the design. BUT THAT’S NOT ALL! We had an issue with the hoster and she assisted getting it working and did after hours work to get us back on track. The next day she educated me on her changes so I could continue on my own. I’ve had a few questions since our session and she’s been extremely responsive.”
